In social studies we started our symbols unit. We learned about the American Flag.

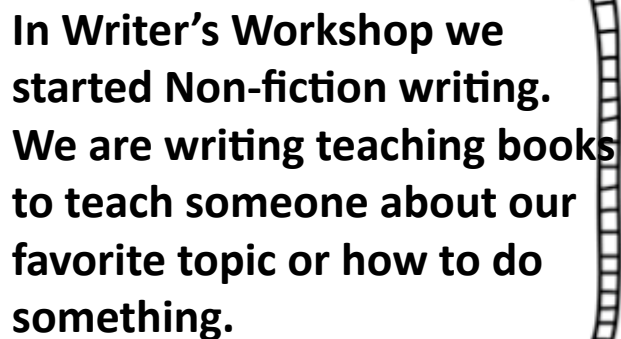

In math we are finding missing addends using addition and subtraction to 20.

In science we learned about sound waves. We watched a video about how sound makes vibrations. Then we shook plastic eggs and guessed what was inside. Finally we read about how our ears hear sounds.

In Writer's Workshop we started Non-fiction writing. We are writing teaching books to teach someone about our favorite topic or how to do something.
