

First Grade Newsletter

In social studies we are learning about life long ago vs. today. We are learning about the events that led up to the civil rights movement.

In math we are solving story problems with three addends.

In science we learned about sound waves. We watched a video about how sound makes vibrations. Then we shook plastic eggs and guessed what was inside.

In Reading we started reading Non-fiction books. At the end of reading each day we share what facts we learned from our books.
