

First Grade Newsletter

We started science and social studies this week! Mrs. Devol taught us about what scientists do and the different kinds of scientists. With Ms. Gregory we brainstormed questions that we have about our community.

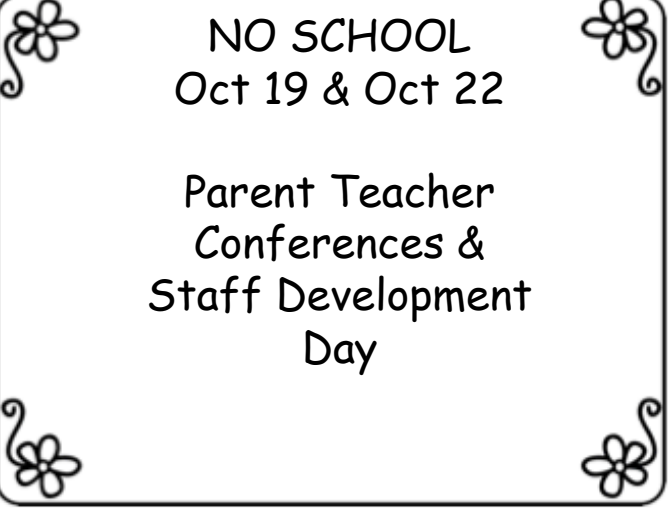

Wildcare came to our class this week to teach us about birds. We learned that all birds have feathers and they all have adaptations that help them survive.

We started Writer's Workshop this week. We all wrote a personal narrative and are working on adding details.

Ms. Gregory's class did MAP testing this week. Mrs. Devol's will do it next week. MAP shows us how students have grown since last year and helps teachers plan instruction in reading and math based on what students need to learn.
