WHAT WE'RE LEARNING

We are learning about the layers of the planet Earth. Next, we will study volcanoes, then rocks.

We are also learning map skills and geography.

We are reading fairy tales and talking about the structure of a story. We are discussing how a story has a beginning, middle and an end. We are learning about how a story usually has a problem followed by some kind of resolution. We are analyzing fairy tales and folk tales to consider what their messages might be. We are comparing folk tales and fairy tales from diverse cultures to find similarities and differences.

In Math, we continue to work on graphs: collecting and analyzing data.
