Curriculum Corner

MATH

Adding Fractions is the skill of the week that students are working on. Students are using array grids and clocks as tools for adding fractions. They're also playing a variety of games that help build the skill of adding fractions. Next week students follow up by working on subtracting fractions.

ELA/SOCIAL STUDIES

This week is presentation week. Artifact projects have been presented in a gallery walk format for optimal observation. Students have shown off their outstanding work and each presentation got the class excited. We're proud of the students for their hard work and interest in completing these projects.

SCIENCE

For Mr. Baker's it's also been presentation time for science. Students have been sharing some real exciting astronomy projects. Lots of fun!
