May 30-Greece and Rome projects on display at open house.

Important Information

If your student has any outstanding assignments, they need to get them in now so that they earn credit before final grades are due.

CAASPP is almost over for the year. This testing is almost fun for some students but can be very anxiety provoking for others. The mandatory silent and still environment is very challenging for many students. Most of our 6th graders rose to the challenge. Thank you to those families who supported your students and their classmates by sending them to school on time, rested, and fed.

Humanities

Hello,

Room 20 looks like a storm blew through. Projects of every shape and size cover all the surfaces and scraps of materials are everywhere. That is fabulous! Students researched their projects and are now constructing their visual displays. They are also preparing oral presentations to give at open house and to teach their classmates.

Projects will be on display at open house May 30th. Please join us.

Best,

Ms. Rizzo

Hi Families!

This week we've been working on our math and ELA CAASPP tests, and taking care to be mindful of what we need.

In science we've been learning about ecosystems, and adaptations, and how different biomes lead to different adaptations in species.

It's short and sweet this week!

Make sure your students eat a full breakfast, and get at least 8-10 hours of sleep at night! :)

Best,

Ms. Lindsey
