Humanities

Hello Families!

Our essential question this week was: Why do historians classify ancient Sumer as a civilization? Discuss with your student what characteristics are necessary for a group of people to be considered a civilization.

In ELA we began our first writing unit on personal narratives. Students ended the week on Thursday with a 30 minute sustained writing session. They are off to a great start.

Thank You,

Ms. Rizzo

Math/Science

Happy Friday!

This week in math, we've worked on graphs, introduced negative numbers, and talked about absolute value.

In science, the students have continued to find information regarding their dinosaur so they'll be ready to start their essays next week!

Best,

Ms. Lindsey
